NO COAL IN BERKELEY art build

On Sunday, September 13, community members gathered at the Berkeley Shellmound for a NO COAL IN BERKELEY art build. Activities included mural painting, and the production of lawn and window signs that proclaimed: "KEEP TRUMP'S DIRTY COAL OUT! OF THE EAST BAY (No-Coal.org)." And once the art making was complete, the group posed for photos, then began singing songs: "Don't mine it, don't burn it, don't put it on a train. A coal depot in Oakland is just insane."

This art build was organized by local artists with support from Sogorea Te' Land Trust, Lisjan Nation, and NoCoal.org. And according to Ohlone elder Corrina Gould, who observed the proceedings: "The ancestors are happy."
